

WORKING STUDENT/INTERN (M/F) FOR STRATEGIC PROJECT

Become a part of Zalando's mission to build one of the world's top tech brands by joining our team as a working student. Whether your experiences involve blogging and social media, employer branding, networking with techies, or events planning, you will find a place--and many ways to stay busy--by joining our team. You can even develop and execute your own projects from end-to-end. How cool is that?

MORE ABOUT WHAT YOU CAN DO

Some of the areas where you can have an impact:

Oversee part of our upcoming tech conferences schedule and ensure our team has what it needs--from getting our signage and swag together to coordinating with outside conference organizers

Write and edit posts for the Zalando tech blog

Content strategy: Place our content on social media channels and generate new content via photos, video and more

Help our team host meetups and other cool tech events by planning, coordinating and executing

Researching opportunities for our team to promote our tech brand in Europe (and beyond)

Help members of our engineering team develop their talks and blog posts

WHAT WE ARE LOOKING FOR

Undergraduates majoring in technology, the social sciences (marketing, business, or economics especially) or communications/journalism

Self-starters who dive into projects and see them through to the end

Candidates experienced in events planning and team leadership

A strong interest in technology and entrepreneurship (bonus points if you can write some code or have experience with tech startups)

Fluency in written and spoken English; other languages are a plus

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

—

To learn more than you ever thought possible, about a variety of topics related to the nuts-and-bolts of employer branding

Colleagues who are strategic, transparent, supportive and encouraging--we like and help each other get things done

An international, diverse, stimulating work environment that's buzzing with activity and ideas

Cool office surroundings in the heart of Berlin

Honest and helpful feedback

Insight into team-building and project management

Fun!

Send us your CV along with links to relevant online profiles as well as a short (half-page max) micro-essay on your favorite tech brand. Tell us what you think the brand is doing well and not-so-well, and what you'd do to make it stronger.

WANT TO JOIN US?

—

Then we'd be more than happy to receive your application!

Any further queries? Please do not hesitate to contact us via email // Matthias Rempel via: jobs@zalando.de