

Working Student / Intern – Sales France (f/m)

Location: Berlin, Deutschland | uberall.com

uberall is Europe's market leader in the field of location marketing (SaaS) and our employee numbers have been rising persistently in all areas. During a paid, at least three months lasting internship or as working student you support the French sales team in all operational and daily business and can gain first Enterprise sales experience. You will work very closely with the French sellers and be part of an international and professional team. You will directly experience how we expand and internationalize our company successfully.

Responsibilities

- Strategic project assistance in Sales within the French market
- Identification and analysis of market and customer potentials
- Lead- and contact research (Internet, databases and other sources)
- CRM data maintenance – records, updates, control
- Administrative activities, like preparing presentations
- Transcribing recommendations

Requirements

- You study economics, but other courses are possible too
- You are interested in sales / marketing or maybe have first experiences already
- You work proactively, independently and well organized
- You are sociable, customer- and service-oriented
- French mother tongue and basic German skills

What we offer

- A beautiful sunny office in the middle of great Berlin
- A fantastic team, people who respect each other, share their knowledge and love working together on something big
- A smooth and innovative self made product with global alignment
- The chance to gain first international sales experience
- Unforgettable team events, spontaneous bbq, table tennis and kicker matches, free drinks and cereals
