

Neuraum is different. We kick-started our company with the acquisition of several well-established websites from a 70+ year old internet pioneer. These content-rich, high-traffic platforms build the foundation for developing and growing innovative business models in the space of building, home & living.

We are a team of experienced professionals, working with fun and passion on the realisation of our ambitious vision. We believe in an agile and self-reliant working style, in sustainable growth and a healthy balance of work and personal life. To support our business development, we are currently looking for a part-time (15-20h/week)

Working Student: Business Intelligence (m/f)

Your responsibilities

- You create meaningful analyses using various data sources (manually defined events, general marketing analytics, external tools)
- You are responsible for a regular automated report generation for internal and external stakeholders and customers
- You work with a variety of tools (SQL, Google Analytics, Segment.com, Amazon RDS, Google Webmaster Tools, Facebook, Sistrix, and others)
- You are involved in the whole development process and you'll work closely with the BizDev, IT and Product teams

Your profile

- You love crunching numbers
- Experience with database queries (MySQL, Postgres or Redshift)
- Knowledge of any programming and/or scripting language (esp. Javascript, Python) is a plus
- Willing to learn and take responsibilities
- You love analytical work and enjoy working in team
- You stand for high quality and outstanding commitment
- Fluent in English and a good understanding of German

We can offer

- Fun at work: An experienced, highly motivated team with an open culture and short decisions is expecting you. Our regular team events are planned all together
- Exciting insights: You will work closely with the founders and will help in building up our frontend development department. You will learn a lot about founding a successful startup and get insights in a variety of topics like IT-infrastructure, Marketing and Business Development
- Personal development: We guarantee a high level of ownership for your projects and the opportunity to develop yourself individually according to your individual strengths and goals
- Attractive and fair circumstances: A permanent contract with competitive salary and flexible working hours

- Pleasant atmosphere: Our beautiful office with rooftop-terrace is located in Berlin-Mitte near Rosenthaler Platz – fresh fruits and cereals, beverages and more included

You like to move things and want to contribute actively to the growth of a company? You are looking for challenging tasks with responsibility? We should talk! Please send us your application to jobs@neuraum.com or call us 030-577040922. Your contact person is Sebastian Sielmann.