

Work with the IMF.
Work with the world.

---

The International Monetary Fund is looking for talented candidates for its
Economist Program (EP)

EP participants will:

- experience an exciting, international career that combines analysis, research, and operational work;
- apply academic studies to current economic policy work;
- travel, engage with authorities, and contribute to making a meaningful difference in our 189 member countries;
- work alongside world-leading economists in an intellectually challenging, multicultural environment;
- enjoy world-class benefits and working conditions.

Recent Ph.D. graduates or Ph.D. candidates in areas such as monetary and international economics, public finance, financial markets, and related fields are encouraged to apply.