

Work with the IMF.
Work with the world.

The International Monetary Fund is looking for talented candidates for its
Fund Internship Program (FIP)

As a FIP participant you will:

- Gain a first-hand understanding of the work of the IMF.
- Work with an experienced economist on a research project that contributes to the mission of the Fund.
- Participate in a paid internship program over a 10–12 week period with round-trip travel to Washington D.C. and medical coverage.

Ph.D. and Master's candidates in monetary, international economics, public finance, financial markets, or related fields within 1–2 years of graduation are encouraged to apply.